Student Comments (Some examples)

Strengths –

¹ One out of 27 students filled out the evaluation.

- The teacher is a very experienced and knowledgeable industry expert who can bring a lot of value-add to the finance department of NUS MBA. The teacher is also very approachable and very willing to help out his students. Not many professors give out their phone numbers to their students. I am especially grateful to his guidance and encouragement to my team.
- Prof has very a lot of experiences of working as a regulator and a investment banker, so he is able to bring out experiences of both sides during the class. He gave us perspectives that can be directly applied to the real world.
- Real industry experiences. Insider experience, true stories telling. Approachable, very friendly to student. Inspire students to think and understand make comprehensive theories into understandable examples. Workload of this module is not heavy kept my interest to learn.
- Very inspiring professor that could make any subject extremely interesting.

Improvements –

- Maybe prof should contain more Asian perspectives.
- Improvements will be in terms of the module structure and scope, and not to the teacher.
- Slides of the lectures especially in the second half of the semester provide some quantitative examples, calculations for illustrations as well.
- Two tests are over-weighted. In class participation should be more highlighted.

Nomination for the Best Teacher Award –

- A refreshing teaching style that embodies the spirit of business school by grooming a new batch of outspoken students who are able to critically think on their feet. There is a sense of kinship with the class uncommon in other modules, aided both by the conversational style teaching, and that of after class interaction. Despite making the class more engaging through personal anecdotes and other real life experiences, the concepts presented are clearly articulated and easily understandable, especially when peer learning is factored in. Overall, an interesting and interactive module that serves as a good foundation for understanding crisis and basic risk concepts without being overwhelmed.
